CAVE-IN-ROCK MINING CO.

Lose Their Big Separating Mill by Fire Saturday. Machinery Badly Damaged.

The big mill at the Cave-in-Rock Mines was destroyed by fire Saturday at just about night. The night was growing dark and the reflection from the clouds illuminated the vicinity for quite a distance. It is to be regretted that this accident occurred, because quite a number had so located themselves that they were wholly dependent upon their connection with the mines for a living. The mines were in full blast before the fire. So many reports have been given out about its cause that none will be given here. Every piece of machinery except the air compressor was ruined either by the fire or the fall.

More galena was being gotten out the past week than had been in the history of the mines. A drift had just been made to northwest into a fifty foot vein of pure galena. These reports are similar to those of the other mines along Lead Hill. The galena from these mines is ground and put into small sacks for shipment. A number of teams are engaged in hauling this mineral to the landing here at Cave-in-Rock.

There was some talk of building a tramway from the Cleveland and Illinois Mining Company's mine to this landing when that mine was in operation. About that time the Ohio river was sounded by a railroad company presumably for the purpose of building a railroad between Harrisburg, Ill. and Marion, Ky. If this road were run through by Lead Hill it would get enough freight in ten years from the mines to pay for it, to say nothing of the other freight. The Ohio river has a natural embankment of lime rock on the Illinois side and it is only about a mile on the Kentucky side to a sufficient elevation to throw the road above the high water mark. The people of Hardin county should do all in their power to encourage a railroad to come through here. It would advance the worth of land. Already most of the land has advanced because of the mineral under it, but it is being turned loose at too low a price. Some of the land that has gone at $10 per acre went cheap. What it has lost in virgin soil does not enter into consideration when it has mineral under it.—Cave-in-Rock Era.

MISS ANNIE DEAN

Winner of the Gold Medal in the Annual Oratorical Contest at School Auditorium Feb. 22

The annual Oratorical Contest of the Marion High School was held Friday evening, Feb. 22, as is the customary celebration of Washington's birthday.

The speakers and their subjects were:

Miss Annie Dean, "America Re-united."

Miss Fenwick Wathen, "America's Future."

Gray Rochester, "Life, and How to Live it."

Hollis Franklin, "Boys of '76."

Jones Gill, "A Type of True Americanism."

The speech of each contestant showed much thought and preparation and the subjects were well handled. It was a hard matter to tell who should get the medal, as we feel each and every one deserved one. We are expecting some of Marion High School pupils to become great men and women.

The judges were Rev. Hummel, of Princeton, Rev. Powell, of Louisville, and Rev. Thompson, of Henderson, who awarded the beautiful gold medal to Miss Annie Dean. Miss Dean's ability has been well proven heretofore in both debates between Morganfield and Marion, and her teacher and friends have reasons to be proud of her.

The Marion Silver Cornet Band rendered some excellent music throughout the evening, which was very much enjoyed by all. This is their first appearance in public and we congratulate them on their progress. The members are as follows: Percy Noggle, leader, Maurice Sutherland, Henry Stone, James Travis, Emmet Koltinsky, Lacy Hughes, Will Clark.

Lone Constable Ties up Railroad

Paducah Ky., Feb. 24.—(Special)—Constable H. B. Tanner, of Barlow, Ky., actually took charge of the Illinois Central passenger station and all the cars of the local freight in yards at that place yesterday, under attachment for a judgment for $40 against the Railroad. Station Agent Hughes was not permitted to get a scuttle of coal during the morning, and nearly froze, while the constable assumed possession of the key to the ticket rack, which he had taken the precaution to lock. He drove a freight crew away from loaded cars standing on the siding but at noon he compromised by permitting the agent to get a load of coal and continue selling tickets, while he held one car of the freight allowing the train to make up and started on its way to Paducah. He said he would give the company until Monday noon to pay up, or he would tie up all its business in Barlow.

Womens College of Kentucky Is Planned

The plan of establishing the women's College of Kentucky which is now being contemplated at Danville will be a matter of interest to women all over Kentucky. The plan includes the enlargement of Caldwell College into more than twice its size, with a campus of 18 acres and modern buildings to cost not less than $150,000.

The college is to be the property of the Presbyterian church in Kentucky and its object is to be the higher education of women. It will be a new department in this state and one in which Kentucky cannot help but feel great pride. It is meant that it should be located in the old Kentucky town in which the old college from which so many great men of the state came is located.

JACKSON-GRACE

Lyon County Gentleman Married To Trigg County Lady Last Week are Known Here.

Mr. Wm. R. Jackson, of Lyon county, and Miss Mary Grace, of this county, were quietly married last Thursday evening at the beautiful country residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Grace, on Muddy fork, four miles northwest of here, Rev. Cunningham, of Princeton, performing the ceremony. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only a few of the immediate members of their families being present.

Mr. Jackson is the son of C. W. Jackson, of Lyon county and is a very prominent and promising young farmer, his father being one of the leading farmers of Lyon county. He is also a brother of Mrs. Ben White of this place, and has many friends here where he has frequently visited. Miss Grace is a very attractive and popular young lady of this community, and has a host of friends in Cadiz, where she has spent a great deal of her time for the past few years.

Their friends here have been anticipating their marriage for some time, still no one knew of their intention at this time until after they were married and the announcement made. They had been sweethearts for quite a while.

We have not learned where they intend making their home—whether with the parents of the bride in this county are upon the farm of the groom's father in Lyon.

The Record joins many friends and admirers in extending to this happy young couple hearty congratulations.—Cadiz Record.

Ira Clark Mysteriously Missing.

On about January 21, last, Mr. Ira Clark, who resided at the old Griffith homestead, near this city, left home in search of work, and after an absence of three days, Mrs. Clark received a letter from him dated at Providence, Ky., stating that he was going to Nebo, Ky., to get work, and since that time nothing has been heard from him.

He is about six feet high and will weigh about 145 pounds and about 45 years old, clean shaved and has a rather slim face. When he left home he was wearing a light colored pair of pants and black coat and vest.

A Present.

To encourage prompt payments of light bills, a present will be given to each patron who settles his light bill to date to-day.

NUNN-LAMB

Miss Addie Nunn, of Rodney, and Mr. Claude Lamb, this City United in Marriage.

On Feb. 25, 1907 at 2 o'clock at the home of the brides father, Mr. Eli Nunn, Mr. Claude Lamb and Miss Addie Nunn were married, Rev. W. T. Oakley, officiating.

Mr. Lamb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Lamb of this city. He has been employed as salesman by Taylor & Cannan, for the past two years. He has proven himself quite efficient and has won many friends. Miss Nunn has attended school here and has visited here frequently. She is a charming young lady always winning friends by her amiable manner. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb will go to housekeeping in Wm. Mott cottage in east Marion.

A Business Reception.

On Saturday evening, Feb. 16th, at the residence of Mrs. Nina Howerton, a Business Reception was held by Mrs. W. N. Rochester and Mrs. Howerton, for the purpose of introducing the goods which they respectively represent. Mrs. Rochester, representing an agency for ladies wearing apparel, and Mrs. Howerton a line of hygienic toilet requisites. Mrs. R. L. Flannery, Mrs. J. G. Rochester, Mrs. R. L. Moore, Misses Nannie Rochester and Pearl Doss assisted in the several capacities of serving punch, reception committee and entertaining with music. Between thirty and forty ladies of the city were received, aside from the business feature of the meeting all seemed to have had a fine time socially. The punch served by Mrs. Flannery of course, was enjoyed by all, but many of the ladies present, made their hostess glad by giving them nice orders.

Received Payment From Government.

Horace Williamson, of View, and Richard E. Pickens, of this city, recently received payment from the government for horses taken from them by the Union army at the close of the civil war, over forty years ago. These soldiers were paroled at Washington, Ga., after Lee's surrender at Richmond, Va., and given their horses and side arms, but on arriving at Chattanooga, Tenn., their horses were taken from them and turned afoot. The government paid them $125.00 each for the horses. And while it comes late is a very neat little sum for each to receive.

DEAD STEER

Knocks Man and Horse Into Creek and Both Are Drowned in Deep Water.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 24.—Thrown from the track by the engine of a fast freight train, the body of a steer struck R. J. Goodwin, who was on a horse close by and knocked him and the horse into the waters of Cannan creek. Goodwin and the horse both were drowned.

Goodwin was driving several head of cattle to his farm near Four Mile. As he reached the railroad crossing near Ferndale the train approached at a rapid rate of speed. The cattle were on the track and the train plowed its way thru the bunch. Mr. Goodwin was not on the track and seemed to be out harm's way. The heavy engine picked up one of the steers, however, and threw it high into the air. It fell against the horse on which Goodwin was riding and both were thrown over the embankment into the creek, which was swollen from rain.

Mr. Goodwin was drowned and his body was taken from the creek about half mile below where the accident happened. Goodwin was formerly Circuit Court Clerk and was well known in this section of the State.

Ollie James Defines Wall Street.

Washington, Feb. 25.—In a speech in the House the other afternoon Ollie James gave his definition of Wall street. It has been quoted extensively and has made a hit. He said:

"Wall street is a place where a man is a bull one day and a bear the next and a hog every day."

When he propounds this definition the members of the House, Republicans and Democrats alike, joined in loud laughter.

COMET MAY HIT EARTH

Dangerous to World, Says Eminent Observer at Vesuvius.

London, Feb. 23.—The Daily Mail publishes a Rome dispatch which reports Professor Matteucci, of the Vesuvius observatory, as declaring that towards the end of March the substance of the new comet, discovered by Marchette, will come in contact with the earth's atmosphere with consequences probably dangerous to the world.

The professor is of the opinion that the danger will be brief, but it may be acute. If the earth comes in collision with the comet's tail, the earth's atmosphere may possibly cause ignition and life will be destroyed.

Farris—Cochran.

Miss Eva Farris, of Salem vicinity, and Mr. John W. Cochran, of this city, were married Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride's father, John Farris, Rev. T. C. Carter officiating. Only the immediate family was present, in fact the exact date of the wedding was not known to only a few immediate friends. Miss Farris is a charming young lady, and has many amiable traits of character which has won for her many friends here and around her own home. Mr. Cochran is a prosperous young farmer, the son of Mrs. Nannie Cochran, of this city. The bride and groom came to Marion Monday morning where they were entertained at dinner by the groom's mother, just the family was present.

Mrs. Willie Lamb Dies.

Mrs. Willie Lamb, wife of Jack Lamb, and daughter of Sam Gass, died Wednesday, Feb. 20, 1907, of consumption. She was about twenty years of age. She was a member of Sugar Grove C. P. church. The interment was at Pleasant Hill Friday.

The Kid Engineer

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright, 1900, by Frank H. Spearman

WHEN the big strike caught us at Zanesville we had 180 engineers and firemen on the payroll. One hundred and seventy-nine of these men walked out. One fireman—just one—stayed with the company; that was Dad Hamilton.

"Yes," growled Dad, combating the protests of the strikers' committee. "I know it. I belong to your lodge. But I'll tell you now—an' I've told you afore—I ain't goin' to strike on the company so long as Neighbor is master mechanic on this division; ain't a-goin' to do it, an' you might as well quit. If you jaw here from now till Christmas, 'twon't change my mind nar a bit."

And they didn't change it. Through the calm and through the storm, and it stormed hard for awhile, Dad Hamilton, whenever we could supply him with an engineer, fired religiously.

No other man in the service could have done it without getting killed, but Dad was old enough to father any man among the strikers. Moreover, he was a giant physically and eccentric enough to move along through the heat of the crisis indifferent to the abuse of the other men. His gray hairs and his tremendous physical strength saved him from personal violence.

Our master mechanic, Neighbor, was another big man, six feet an inch in his stockings, and strong as a drawbar. Between Neighbor and the old fireman there existed some sort of a bond—a liking, an affinity. Dad Hamilton had fired on our division ten years. There was no promotion for Dad; he could never be an engineer, though only Neighbor knew why. But his job of firing on the river division was sure as long as Neighbor signed the payrolls at the roundhouse.

Hence there was no surprise when the superintendent offered him an engine, just after the strike, that Dad refused to take it.

"I'm a fireman, and Neighbor knows it. I ain't no engineer. I'll make steam for any man you put in the cab with me, but I won't touch a throttle for no man. I laid it down, and I'll never pinch it again—an' no offense to you, Neighbor, neither."

Thus ended the negotiations with Dad on that subject; threats and entreaties were useless. Then, too, in spite of his professed willingness to throw coal for any man we put on his engine, he was continually rowing about the green runners we gave him. From the standpoint of a railroad man they were a tough assortment; for a fellow may be a good painter, or a handy man with a jack plane, or an expert machinist even and yet a failure as an engine runner.

After we got hold of Foley, Neighbor put him on awhile with Dad, and the grizzled fireman quickly declared that Foley was the only man on the payroll who knew how to move a train.

The little chap proved such a regular, able hand that I tried hard to get some of his eastern chums to come over and join him. After a good bit of hustling we did get half a dozen more heading boys for our new corps of engine men, but the East End officials kept all but one of them on their own divisions. That one we got because nobody on the East End wanted him.

"They've cramped the whole bunch," Foley said, answering his inquiries. "There's just one fellow reported here—he came in on 5 this morning. Neighbor's had a little talk with him, but he doesn't think much of him. I guess we're out the transportation on that fellow."

"What's his name?" asked Foley. "Is he off the Reading?" "Claims he is; his name is McNeal," Foley said, surprised. "Not George McNeal?"

"I don't know what his first name is. He's nothing but a boy." "Dark complexioned fellow?" "Perhaps you'd call him that; sort of soft spoken."

"George McNeal, sure you're born. If you've got him you've got a bird. He ran opposite me between New York and Philadelphia on the limited. I want to see him right off. If it's George, you're all right."

Foley's talk went a good way with me any time. When I told Neighbor about it he picked up his ears. While we were debating in rushed Foley with the kid, as he called him.

As luck would have it, Neighbor put the boy on the 244 with Dad Hamilton, and Dad proceeded at once to make what Foley termed "a great roar."

"What's the matter?" demanded Neighbor roughly when the old fireman complained.

"If you're goin' to pull these trains with boys, I guess it's time for me to quit. I'm gettin' pretty old, anyhow."

"What's the matter?" growled Neighbor, still surlier, knowing full well that if the old fellow had a good reason he would have blurted it out at the start.

"Nothin's the matter, only I'd like my time."

It was a favorite trick of Neighbor's. Whenever the old fireman got to "buckling" about his engineer the master mechanic threatened to discharge the engineer. That settled it. Dad Hamilton wouldn't for the world be the cause of throwing another man out of a job, no matter how little he liked him.

The old fellow went back to work mollified, but it was evident that he and McNeal didn't half get on together. The boy was not much of a talker. Yet he did his work well, and Neighbor said next to Foley he was the best man we had.

About a week later Foley came into the office one morning very much excited.

"Did you hear about the boy's getting pounded last night—George McNeal? It's a shame the way these fellows act. Three of the strikers piled on him while he was going into the postoffice and thumped the life out of him. The cowardly hounds, to jump on a man's back that way!"

"Foley," said I, "that's the first time they've tackled one of Dad Hamilton's engineers."

"They'd never have done it if they thought there was any danger of Dad's getting after them. They know he doesn't like the boy."

"It's an outrage, but we can't do anything. You know that. Tell McNeal to keep away from the postoffice. We'll get his mail for him."

"I told him that this morning. He's in bed and looks pretty hard, but he won't dodge those fellows. He claims it's a free country," grinned Foley. "But I told him he'd get over that idea if he stuck out this trouble."

It was three days before McNeal was able to report for work, though he received full time just the same. Even then he wasn't fit for duty, but he begged Neighbor for his run until he got it. The strikers were jubilant while the boy was laid up, but just what Dad thought no one could find out. I wanted to tell the old growler what I thought of him, but Foley said it wouldn't do any good and might do harm, so I held my peace.

The boy reached for his throttle through a rain of iron blows.

One might have thought that the injustice and brutality of the thing would have roused him, but men who have repressed themselves till they are gray headed don't rise in a hurry to resent a wrong. Dad kept as mute as the sphinx. When McNeal was ready to go out the old fireman had the 244 shining, but if the pale face of his engineer had any effect on him he kept it to himself.

As they rattled down the line with a long stock train that night neither of them referred to the break in their run. Coming back next night, the same silence hung over the cab. The only words that passed over the boiler head were "strickly business," as Dad would say.

At Oxford they were laid out by a Pullman special. It was 3 o'clock in the morning and raining hard. Under such circumstances an hour seems all night. At last Dad himself broke the unsupportable silence.

"He'd have waited a good bit longer if he had waited for me to talk," said the boy, telling Foley afterward.

"Heard you got licked," growled Dad after tinkering with the fire for the twentieth time.

"I didn't get licked," retorted George; "I got clubbed. I never had a chance to fight."

"These fellows hate to see a boy come out and take a man's job. Can't blame 'em much neither."

"Whose job did I take?" demanded George angrily. "Was any one of those cowards that jumped on me in the dark looking for work on this engine?"

"There was nothing to say to that, Dad kept still."

"You talk about men," continued the young fellow. "If I am not more of a man than to slug a fellow from behind, the way they slugged me, I'll get off this engine and stay off. If that's what you call men out here, I don't want to be a man. I'll go back to Pennsylvania."

"Why didn't you stay there?" growled Dad.

"Why didn't you?" Without attempting to return the shot Dad pulled nervously at the chain.

"If I hadn't been fool enough to go out on a strike, I might have been running there yet," continued George.

"Ought to have kept away from the postoffice," grumbled Dad after a pause.

"I got a letter twice a week that I think more of than I do of this whole road, and I propose to go to the postoffice and get it without asking anybody's permission."

"They'll pound you again."

George looked out into the storm. "Well, why shouldn't they? I've got no friends."

"Got a girl back in Pennsylvania?"

"Yes, I've got a girl there," replied the boy as the rain tore at the cab window. "I've had a girl there a good while. She's gray headed and sixty years old—that's my girl—and if she can write letters to me I can get them out of the postoffice without a guard."

"There she comes," said Dad as the headlight of the Pullman special shone faint ahead through the mist.

"I'm mighty glad of it," said George, looking at his watch. "Give me steam now, Dad, and I'll get you home in time for a nap before breakfast."

A minute later the special shot over the switch, and the young runner, crowding the pistons a bit, started off the siding. When Dad, looking back for the hind end brakeman to lock the switch and swing on, called all clear, George pulled her out another notch, and the long train slowly gathered headway up the slippery track.

As the speed increased the young man and the old relapsed into their usual silence. The 244 was always a free steamer, but George put her through her paces without any apology, and it took lots of coal to square the account.

In a few minutes they were pounding along up through the Narrows. The track there follows the high bench between the bluffs, which sheer up on one side, and the river bed, thirty feet below the grade, on the other.

It is not an inviting stretch at any time with a big string of gondolas behind. But on a wet night it is the last place on the division where an engineer would want a side rod to go wrong, and just there and then George's rod went very wrong indeed.

Halfway between centers the big steel bar on his side, dipping then so fast you couldn't have seen it even in daylight, snapped like a stick of licorice. The hind end ripped up into the cab like the nose of a swordfish, tearing and smashing with appalling force and fury.

George McNeal's seat burst under him as if a stick of giant powder had exploded. He was jammed against the cab roof like a link pin and fell sprawling, while the monster steel fall thrashed and tore through the cab with every lightning revolution of the great driver from which it swung.

It was a frightful moment. Anything thought or done must be thought and done at once. It was either to stop that train, and quickly, or to pound along until the 244 jumped the track and lit in the river, with thirty cars of coal to cover it.

Instantly—so Dad Hamilton afterward told me—instantly the boy, scrambling to his feet, reached for his throttle—reached for it through a rain of iron blows, and staggered back with his right arm hanging like a broken wing from his shoulder. And back again after it—after the throttle with his left; slipping and creeping carefully this time up the throttle lever until, straining and twisting and dodging, he caught the latch and pushed it tightly home. Dad whistling vigorously the while for brakes.

Relieved of the tremendous head on the cylinder, the old engine calmed down enough to let the two men collect themselves. Rapidly as the brakes could do it, the long train was brought up standing, and George, helped by his fireman, dropped out of the cab, and they set about disconnecting the engineer with his one arm—the formidable ends of the broken rod.

It was a slow, difficult piece of work to do. In spite of their most active efforts the rain chilled them to the marrow. The train crew gave them as much help as willing hands could, which wasn't much, but by every man doing something they got things fixed, called in their flagmen just before daybreak and started home. When the sun rose George, grim and silent, the throttle in his left hand, was urging the old engine along on a dog trot across the Blackwood flats, and so, limping in on one side, the kid brought his train into the Zanesville yards, with Dad Hamilton unable to make himself helpful enough, unable to show his appreciation of the skill and the grit that the night had disclosed in the kid engineer.

The hostler waiting in the yard sprang into the cab with amazement on his face and was just in time to lift a limp boy out of the old fireman's arms and help Dad get him to the ground, for George had fainted.

When the 244 reached the shops a few minutes later they photographed that cab. It was the worst case of rod smashing we had ever seen, and the West End shops have caught some pretty tough looking cabs in their day.

The boy who stopped the cyclone and saved his train and crew lay stretched on the lounge in my office waiting for the company surgeon. And old Dad Hamilton—crabbed, irascible old Dad Hamilton—flew around that boy exactly like an excited old rooster, first bringing ice and then water and then hot coffee and then fanning him with a time table. It was worth a small smashup to see it.

The one sweep of the rod which caught George's arm had broken it in two places, and he was off duty three months. But it was a novelty to see that boy walk down to the postoffice and hear the strikers step up and ask how his arm was, and to see old Dad Hamilton tag around Zanesville after him was refreshing. The kid engineer had won his spurs.

Stung!

Miss Primrose—So you're going to marry the preacher. Well, I hope you'll be happy, and all that sort of thing, but—you mustn't mind my speaking plainly—I wonder you didn't choose some one a little less meek and—er—timid. I can tell you, my dear, only a very brave man will wed me. The Betrothed—Yes, I can believe that; but do you think you will ever find one with sufficient courage?

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

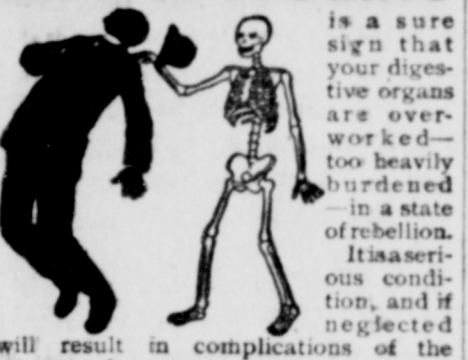

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established rule is to the germ of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to childhood this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. It is a sure cure for pneumonia when it is given. For sale by J. H. Orme.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure three bottles of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I kept right on till the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. SIFERMAN.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Predicament.

"How did you like the cocktail, colonel?"

"It was very fine, very fine indeed. Er—but wasn't that an unusually large cherry you put in it? Why, it almost choked me."

"Cherry? Why, I didn't put any cherries in it at all."

"You didn't? By Frankfort, sah, I must have swallowed my teeth."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Favorite.

"We prefer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to any other for our children," says Mr. L. J. Woodbury, of Twining, Mich. "It has also done work for us in hard colds and croup, and we take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by Haynes & Taylor.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—renewal—grow strong again. It is a corrector of the highest efficiency. Sold by J. H. Orme.

Child's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Mrs. John Englehardt, of Gera, Mich., tells of the anxious moments spent over her little two-year-old daughter who had taken a hard cold resulting in croup. She says: "If it had not been for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy she would have choked to death. I gave her this medicine every ten minutes and she soon began to throw up the phlegm. I can recommend it in the highest terms as I have another child that was cured in the same way." Sold by Haynes & Taylor.

"Regular as the Sun"

as an expression as old as the race. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it is the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed by J. H. Orme, Druggist, etc.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. E. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Kodol Digests What You Eat.

There is an active movement on foot to enlarge Gander Creek. This could be done by combining Gimlet creek with Gander. The stream would be twice its present size, and would necessarily be of more importance as a water course. This enlargement would necessitate a lengthening of all the bridges and foot-logs and a general enlargement of every thing along its banks. The most important point to be gained by this move would come out of the fact that the fish could also grow to twice their present size, therefore requiring just half as much fishing as now has to be done. This is a move we heartily endorse and believe that if properly carried out will be one of the best things that has happened

THE CARE OF THE WOMAN

Headache increased on reading or sewing in one of the most common reflex symptoms of eye-strain.

It is well-known fact that no muscle in the body can endure continuous contraction of the ciliary muscles, say for from eight to twelve hours daily.

The result is eye-strain.

Persons whose work necessitates much ocular labor should vary their duties with intervals of rest. In continued reading or sewing, it is well to desist at short intervals and fix the gaze on some distant object and close the lids repeatedly.

The habit of wearing veils is responsible for some deterioration of vision particular if they are very thick or dotted. The best veil for the eyes is one with a single large mesh either without dots, or the dots so far apart that none shall come over the eye.—Anna M. Galbraith,

JAMES IS HERO OF WASHINGTON.

Olie, of Kentucky. Takes a Crack at Washington Street Car System and Strikes Popular Chord

Washington D. C., Feb. 12.—
Olie James was the lion of Washington today. District of Columbia people, tired of the miserable service on some of the car lines, flocked to him to commend him for his fight yesterday afternoon in behalf of 4 cent cash fares or eight tickets for a quarter.

Although he was temporarily defeated, it is believed he will at last get his proposition thru the House session.

The present fare is 5 cents cash and six tickets for a quarter.

In an eloquent speech, James declared that the street car companies of Washington, which cost originally not over $2,000,000, have at least $11,000,000 of water in them.

He added: "I do not believe that any sane man will dispute the proposition that they can carry passengers for 3 cents in the District of Columbia and make money, at that.
I believe they have the best street car service in the world, but let Washington start the fight. Let this congress start the fight in favor of a lower transportation rate. Start it right here in the District of Columbia." (Loud applause)

A Valuable Lesson

I take them the better I find them."
They please everybody. Guaranteed

INVIGORATE THE DIGESTION

To invigorate the digestion and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels there's nothing so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills, which has been in use for over a century. This cleans the blood and imparts new vigor to the body. One or two in one night for a week will usually be all that is required. For Constipation or Dyspepsia, one or two taken every night will in a short time afford great relief.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and being purely vegetable are adapted to every system. Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's.
For years Dr. Shoop has fought against Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years.
For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Haynes & Taylor.

Special Announcement Regarding the National Pure Food and Drug Law

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. J. H. Orme.

As an example of Norwegian honest-ty, Lord Edward Spencer-Churchill, in a lecture, told a story of how he and his friends left a silver spoon in one of the little station houses by mistake. Two years afterward, when they passed by the house again, the silver spoon was brought to them.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successful as Alcock's Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drug and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine.
They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities goes right to their work relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of functions of muscles, nerves and skin.

Alcock's Plaster are the original and genuine porous plasters and like most meritorious articles have been extensively imitated, therefore always make sure and get the genuine Alcock's.

"You say you were in the saloon at the time of the assault referred to?"
questioned the lawyer.

"I was, sor," replied the witness.

"Did you take cognizance of the barkeeper at the time?"

"I don't know what he called it, sor, but I took what the rest did."

For Biliousness and Sick Headach

Take Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup. It sweetens the stomach, aids digestion and acts as a gentle stimulant on the liver and bowels without irritating these organs. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures biliousness and habitual constipation.
Does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Remember the name ORINO and refuse to accept any substitute. J. H. Orme.

"Oh, come into my parlor," said the sophomore to the lie. Thus prepared, he then went to secure a sick excuse.—

"Everybody Should Know"

says C. G. Hays, a prominent business man of Bluff, Mo., that Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn or wound, or to a case of piles. "I've used it and know what I'm talking about." Guaranteed by J. H. Orme Druggist 25c.

A Card

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Cures la grippe cough and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The genuine is in a yellow package.
Refuse substitutes. J. H. Orme.

Awakening him.

The honeymoon was over and the embroid was bare.

"Don't worry, darling," said the romantic husband, as he opened the piano: "remember, music is the food of love."

The practical little wife shook her head.

"But if you really think music is the food of love," she responded, "perhaps you can step around and get the butcher to give you a beefsteak for a mere song."

Then the long-haired genius woke up.—Chicago Daily News.

Dragging Down Pains

are a symptom of the most serious trouble which can attack a woman, viz: falling of the womb. With this, generally, comes irregular and painful ritability, tired feeling, etc. The cure is

WINE OF Cardui

new woman and do not suffer as I did.
It is the best medicine I ever took."

Lights Deceive Him.

Young Captain Sealby of the White Star liner Celtic was talking about the colored signal lights of ships.

"In the past," he said, "all lights were white. I once knew a young Scottish sailor to whom the new colored lights were unknown.

"As he stood at the wheel one night a big steamer hove in sight, and the boy saw the great red and green lights for the first time.

"He rammed down the helm with a loud yell. 'Preserve us!' he shouted.
'We're goin' right into the 'pothecary shop at Peebles.'"

"WHISKY" COLD CURES.

Danger of Using Alcoholic Mixtures or Coal Tar Tablets.

Laying aside all moral objections against filling up the system with whisky or drugs because one has a cough or cold, the dangerous physical effects should be sufficient to keep one from using these strong medicines.

A thoroughly scientific way to treat a cough and cold as well as a sensible method is to breathe Hyomei through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with ever outfit. The first breath of its healing medication relieves the irritation, and its continued use soon effects a thorough cure.

The best people in—f—always keep Hyomei in the house during the winter months, at the first symptoms of a cold or bronchial troubles, use the remedies, and prevent serious and lasting illness. The guarantee that—a—give with every Hyomei outfit should convince you of its curative powers. A complete Hyomei outfit cost but $1.00, extra bottles if needed 50c, and—a— guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed.
The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after so is Electric Bitters; the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by J. H. Orme Druggist 50c.

BIBLE CLASS

CONDUCTED BY REV. J. F. PRICE.

The Bible class had a good session Sunday afternoon. The next lesson is Gen. xxi.-xxv. inclusive.

HELPS TO STUDY

Eliezer, Abraham's servant, was the son of Masek (a feminine name). Doubtless she lived in Damascus and was obtained by Abraham on his journey from Haran to Canaan as he passed through Damascus. Hence her son was called Eliezer of Damascus.

KADMONITES.

The Kadmonites was one of the Oriental tribes dwelling east or northeast of Palestine. They were doubtless descendants of Ishmael (by anticipation) as Kadmonite is derived from Kedemah, who was one of Ishmael's sons, Gen. 25:15. They were to dwell "in the face of their brethren," Gen. 16:12, which, in Oriental parlance was east, Kedemah means east and corresponds with this.

KENIZZITES.

These were the sons of Kenaz, one of the descendants of Esau, Gen. 36:15-42. They were adopted into the Israelite nation. How? See Gen. 17:12; Ex. 12:48, 49. Caleb and Othniel belonged to this tribe, Josh. 14:6, 14; 15:17; Judges 1:13; 2:9; Num. 13:6; Josh. 15:13, 17; Num. 32:12. They were adopted into the tribe of Judah and became part of that tribe.

KENITES.

They were a tribe of the Midianites. Midian was Abraham's son by Keturah, Gen. 25:2. The above mentioned three tribes were all spoken of by way of anticipation. In the time of the wilderness wandering they were found in the Sinai peninsula, Num. 10:29. This is the family into which Moses married, Ex. 2:15-21; 3:1 18:7-27; Num. 10:20. They went with the children of Israel to Palestine, Judges 1:16. Some of them dwelt in the southern part of Palestine, Judges 1:16, but Heber had moved to the northern part, Judges 4:11. Some of them were in the southern part in Saul's time, 1 Sam. 15:6. They were spared because of the kindness shown to the Israelites, 1 Sam. 15:6; 27; 10; 30:29. The Rechabites, the great temperance tribe of the Bible, were descended from them, 1 Chron. 2:55; Jer. ch. xxxv.

THE PROMISED HEIR.

After hope had been deferred twenty-five years, Abraham's steadfast trust was rewarded by the birth of Isaac. This was a miracle (Rom. 4:17-22) and was typical of the supernatural birth of the seed of Abraham, who was also the son of God according to his divine nature. The place of Isaac's birth was Beersheba. The time 1897 B.C., Abraham being one hundred and Sarah ninety years old. According to the custom of ancient times, a child was weaned at a later age than with us, 1 Sam. 1:23. Isaac was weaned probably when three years old. The name Isaac (Laughter) was given him in commemoration of the laugh of Abra-

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists. Price 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pill for constipation.

Investing in a Boy

There is no finer monument that a rich man can put his money into than a life. Take a poor boy who aspires to do something; one that will make honest use of the advantage that is provided him; direct him in some special line of life, educate him in it, stand by him as long as his course is straight, clean and upward; as long as he preserves the ambition to be something and to take care of himself. Then, if he is a success, which he is likely to be, there is an extension of the benefactor's life far into the future.—Ohio State Journal.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half mankind, over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Joe Ben Champion Wins Big Case.

The jury, which had under consideration the guilt or innocence of John Northcutt returned to the court room Saturday morning about 9 o'clock after having deliberated on the case for a period of sixteen hours and rendered a verdict of not guilty. The case which ended in an acquittal for Northcutt, had been on trial for the past week and has created a great deal of interest.

John Northcutt was arrested for the crime of murdering an old man in Ravia in August 1905 and had been in jail for a period of eighteen months being unable to secure bail.

The murdered man was an old man who lived to himself in that city and was known to have a large sum of money hid in his house, and on the night of August 16 was murdered by some one. Suspicion pointed to the defendant and on the suspicion and several minor facts as gleaned John Northcutt was arrested at Denison, Texas, a short time afterwards by Deputy United States Marshal John Bridges and lodged in jail in this city where he has been up until the trial of the case and his acquittal.

The jury returned in the court room just as the court crier, R. L. Sanders was announcing the opening of the court.

Northcutt is a happy man and immediately after being released the prisoner spent part of the day in seeing the sights of the town.

J. B. Champion assisted by Col. Russell in the defence of the case and it is said by many of the older attorneys of the local bar that the efforts made by Mr. Champion was one of the finest ever heard in the local court room.—The Daily Ardmoreite, Ardmore, I. T.

Endorsed by The County.

"The most popular remedy in Onsego County, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Onsego Journal, Gilbertsville, New York "is Dr. King's New Discovery. It has proved to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for Lung and Throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, by J. H. Orme Druggist, Price 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Marion Milling Company's Products.

The makers name on a food article means a great deal to the consumer—also to the maker of the product if it has merit.

The name Marion Milling Co., stands back of it—it means that the maker is proud to use his name in connection with the product.

The names "ELK" and "CROWN" is on all the flour products of the Marion Milling Co., because the makers are positive their flour is clean, honestly made, wholesome and satisfactory and that the product is a credit to their name.

When you buy the Marion Milling Company's flour product you know what you are getting, and you know that their guarantee behind it means something.

When you order from your grocer specify the Marion Milling Company's Flour and help a home industry, and same will be appreciated by your friends.

An Effective Riddle.

On one occasion when he was busy President Lincoln received a delegation of men who were endeavoring to hurry the passing of some petty bill. When they entered, Lincoln looked up gravely and said:

"If you call the tail of a sheep a leg, how many legs will the sheep have?"

"Five," said the spokesman.

"No," replied Lincoln: "It would only have four. Calling the tail a leg wouldn't make it one."

The delegation departed in discomfiture.—Pittsburg Post.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established rule is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of year is the neglected cold." Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Haynes & Taylor.

Teachers' salaries in the New York public schools vary from the minimum of $800 annually to the maximum of $2,400.

Thoroughly Reliable

If ever there was a reliable and safe remedy it is that old and famous porous plaster—Allock's. It has been in use for sixty years, and is as popular to-day as ever, and we doubt if there is a civilized community on the face of the globe where this wonderful pain reliever cannot be found. In the selection of the ingredients and in their manufacture the greatest care is taken to keep up to the highest standard of excellence and so pure and simple are the ingredients that even a child can use them.

Allock's are the original and genuine porous plasters and are sold by Druggists in every part of the civilized world.

Doubtful Compliment.

At a banquet held in a room the walls of which were adorned with many beautiful paintings, a well known college principal was called upon to respond to a toast. Wishing to pay a compliment to the ladies present and designating the paintings with one of his characteristic gestures, he said: "What need is there of those painted beauties when we have so many with us at this table?"

LOLA

(Last week's letter)

Rev. Robt. Johnson was able to fill his appointment last Sunday, he preached for us Saturday and Sunday night.

John McFarlan, of Joy, visited his sister, Mrs. Yancy Rice, two or three days last week.

H. O. Radcliff, Supt. of the Edward mines was on our streets last Saturday.

Rev. Chas. Clark, of Salem, stayed over night with J. D. Foley last Friday night enroute to Cave Spring where he preached Saturday and Sunday.

R. S. Paris sold to A. H. Beit, one yoke of work cattle for $105.00.

We understand that J. C. Gossage who went from here to Eddyville as a guard at the penitentiary is well pleased with his position. We commend him to the prison officials.

Lee Skelton, of Joy, who was arraigned in Squire King's court, was acquitted of the charge of shooting Hugh Lawson at that place a few days ago.

Our mail carrier was late getting here last Saturday after noon with the mail, the roads being so bad that one of his horses gave out, he loosed from his vehicle and came in on horse back leading the tired horse.

We are glad to report that Horace Oglesby is much improved of a severe attack of muscular rheumatism.

H. D. Millen will teach a three months school here, beginning the 15th of March.

Willis Bradshaw left Monday morning for Union county to work on a farm this season.

J. B. Mahan and L. P. Mitchell visited J. B. Perry, of Irma, last Saturday and Sunday.

R. S. Paris went to Smithland last Tuesday.

J. R. Foley went to Marion last Monday.

We are glad to see the interest that is taken in the Sunday School here. We ask every one to come to Sunday School as we have one of the best in the county. The queries that is put to the bible class are very interesting and instructive.

P. R. Vick, our county surveyor, was in town last Monday evening.

According to Mr. ground hog's prophecy, we will not have much more bad weather.

The question is put to our bible class for next Sunday is: "Prove Judas was a devil from beginning?" Let us hear from some of the correspondents their views on this subject.

Dr. Chas. Masoncup is on the sick list this week.

Rising From the Grave

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor's drugstore. Price only 50c.

CROOKED CREEK

VACATION TIME

By Byron Williams.

"Sister" and I were just jolly chums
Up in Wisconsin, at "Meadow Farm."
She was my "pardner," a slender reed;
I was her "brother" to shield from harm.

"Sister" and I!

"Sister" and I were like two old pals,
Up in Wisconsin, those summer hours,
Care free and glad in the nature nooks,
Far to the north with its vine-decked bowers!

"Sister" and I!

"Sister" and I told our sacred dreams,
Skimming the bayous, and then away!
Deep in the wood where the great elms grew.

Joyous we romped till the dusk of day—
"Sister" and I!

"Sister's" blue eyes were like summer skies.

Sapphires aglow! And her lips were red!
Laugh like the ripple upon the ford!
Hands that were warm when by rough paths sped.

"Sister" and I!

"Sister" and I are in town again—
Here, I am told, she is "Miss Frazore!"
"Sir, there's a difference 'twixt this and that."

Now we're in town and vacation's o'er!
"Sister" no more!

"Sister" and I! Ah, those happy days, When we were chums where the zephyr's charm

Filled our two hearts with a strange new joy.

Up in Wisconsin at "Meadow Farm"—

I KNOW A NICHE

By Byron Williams.

I know a niche where the blown lake laps
Upon a rock-strewn shore,
Where the killdeer pipes on his mournful
lute
And the woods are rich in lore!

I know a bay near the fragrant wood,
Along the water's rim,
Where the jack-snipes skip on the shelving sand
And the jocund curlews skim!

I know a spot on the pulsing wave,
Beside the moss-green weeds,
Where the hooked batrachian fears to swim
And the leaden sinker leads!

I know a hole where the pick'rel lies,
Down in the nectared deep,
Where the bar slopes sheer from a shallow shore
And the minnows dart and leap!

I know a place where the sunrise lights
Are yellow shafts of gold,
Where the sunset tints are of heaven's blend
From a godly artist's mold!

I know a place where the red bird calls
To her warbling courtier gay;
Where the blue-jay shrieks and the thrush throat throbs
With a matin roundelay!

I know where days, replete with joys,
Are sweet as a babe's caress;
Where the heart buoys free on elated bliss
And it sings in gladness!

I know where cares of yesteryear
Drift like debris away,
While the soul of man, awakening, lives
In the joy of just to-day!

I dream a scene in the office heat,
Behind a dingy desk,
Of the clover red and the forage bee
And the landscapes picturesque!

I see the shore of the chortling lake,
Within the Vale of Rest,
Where a man may lie and build for aye
Alcascades of the blest!

I know a niche where the blown lake laps
Upon a rock-strewn shore,
Where the killdeer pipes on his mournful
lute
And the woods are rich in lore!

OF PUBLIC FUNCTIONS

Some Things Are Essentially of a Governmental Nature.

Collecting Customs, Maintaining the Army and the Police, Are Among These, but Not Such Undertakings as the Telegraph, the Telephone, the Street Cars or Gas and Electric Lighting—True Nature of a Public Franchise.

By ARTHUR WILLIAMS,
President National Electric Light association.

Some things are so essentially of a governmental nature that it would be fatuous to consider them from the standpoint of private ownership. Among these are the collection of customs, the maintenance and direction of the army and navy and the police power. In others it is the end rather than the means that should be sought, and municipal and private ownership are often on equal terms without the violation of any economic principle.

The maintenance of public highways and sewers is usually a public function, but the country abounds in examples, every whit as satisfactory, of private ownership and operation. With water the importance to the community lies not in its ownership, whether public or private, but rather in its quality, quantity and price. Many of the most satisfactory waterworks of this country and Europe are owned privately.

Beyond these there is a class of public utilities which experience has shown should lie exclusively within the domain of private enterprise. The telegraph, telephone, transportation, gas and electric light undertakings offer examples. The ownership of these by the community is advocated by some on the ground that they are necessities of modern life, by others because they partake of the nature of monopoly. It does not appear that either is a sufficient reason. These are facilities and conveniences, not necessities. The latter consist of simple dwellings, food, raiment and means of warmth in winter. If our necessities are to be municipalized, we should begin with the butcher, grocer, baker and coal dealer, whose percentage of profits far exceeds that of any of the corporations in the so called public service.

Monopoly—regulated monopoly—is not necessarily opposed to the public interest. It is advantageous to all to have one telephone system, that from one point all may be conveniently reached; to have one street car system with universal transfers, making unnecessary any relation between one's home and place of work; to have a single gas or electric light works, preventing the waste of small plants and organizations and securing by the larger development increased reliability and improved quality in the service.

A franchise merely permits a public service corporation to share with others the use of the streets for the delivery to its customers of the commodity it supplies—a right that is enjoyed by every other industry. The difference is merely one of method. Were electricity delivered in storage batteries and gas in tanks—conceivable ways—no franchise would be required. Instead of using horses and wagons, which blockade the streets and make street cleaning a problem, deliveries are made beneath the surface without dirt, noise or other objectionable features.

It is through the exercise of this right that we hear of the confiscation of public property. Yet the public has not parted with its title to the streets nor its right to occupy them for any purpose or in any manner it may desire. It has simply permitted a service company to become a tenant, for which, in the form of franchise and other taxes, the company pays a high rent. Substantially the city is the landlord, possessing the power of arbitrarily determining, in the form of these taxes, what rent it shall receive. And this rent lessens proportionately the individual taxation.—Moody's Magazine.

Typical Case of City Bookkeeping.

The authorities of Lakewood, O., have charged the city $55 a year for the street lights supplied by the municipal plant. After looking at their tax bills some of the citizens came to the conclusion that this sum did not represent all the cost and called in a firm of expert accountants, who ascertained that the actual annual cost per arc had been $129.56 for the seven years the plant had been in operation, although the lights had been run on the moon-light schedule. As a private company offers all night service for less than half that amount, the experiment is not regarded as a success, except by the lighting committee.

Hard Luck of English City Strikers.

The experience of the employees of the municipal street railway of Halifax, England, is not such as to encourage the idea, promulgated by our yellow journals, that cities are necessarily an easy mark. These employees struck, expecting popular support, which was not forthcoming. Their places were promptly filled, arbitration was refused, and the new men were retained when the strike was over.

Greenfield, Ind.

The city council is considering the necessity for a general overhauling and installation of new machinery in the municipal electric light plant in this city. Frequent breakdowns recently have left the city in darkness.—Electrical World.

MAJESTIC BAKING DEMONSTRATION

One Week, March 4th to 9th, Inclusive.

Majestic

PERFECTLY SATISFIED!

15 gallons of water heated to the point of boiling, while breakfast is cooking. When water gets too hot reservoir can be moved away from fire by shifting the lever shown.

Where pressure water is used this malleable iron pin-extension water front, which has more heating surface than any other, supplies abundance of hot water to all parts of the house. It takes the place of reservoir.

We heartily invite our friends to call during the above mentioned week and we will demonstrate the superior qualities of the

New Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Ranges

The MAJESTIC MALLEABLE and steel range as formerly turned out by the Majestic people has been considered throughout the country as par excellence, and far ahead of any other range made. But with the NEW CHARCOAL IRON BODY in place of Steel, making it double its value, and the fact that it is the only range in existence made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron, you can readily see that if the quality is considered, the Majestic leads by a big margin. WE WANT YOU TO CALL at our store during the above date, and let us explain this new feature—CHARCOAL IRON BODIES; let us explain why it is the best material for range bodies, and incidentally why it is not used on other ranges. We want you to call if you intend to buy or not as the information gained will serve you in the future.

Hot Coffee and Biscuits, Free

Come any day during the above mentioned date and have buttered hot biscuits and hot coffee. Biscuits baked on a Majestic in three minutes while you wait.

Handsome Set of Ware, Free

With every range sold during this demonstration we will give absolutely FREE one set of Majestic ware worth every cent of $7.50. This will be on exhibition at our store. Everything useful, ornamental and durable. Come in and see it, and you will agree with us that it cannot be bought for a cent less than $7.50 and it is cheap at that.

Come in any Day. You are Welcome whether you intend to buy or not.

T. H. Cochran & Company

CAAPEL HILL

Our community was very much surprised to hear of the death of Miss Willie Long on last Saturday. Willie was a stepdaughter of John W. Belt. She was a nice and industrious young lady, and was well thought of in our community. Her remains were buried at Chapel Hill last Sunday evening. Bro. Thompson preached her funeral, and a large crowd was present on the occasion.

Charlie Clement and wife was visiting in Repton neighborhood last week.

Mrs. Lawrence Crider, of Marion, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hill.

Mrs. Ida Enoch left Saturday for Paducah where she will join her husband, Bob Enoch. Mr. Enoch has a position on the rail road as a bridge carpenter.

Ed Long is in this beat on a visit. He came here from Sturgis.

Uncle George Douglas, of Union county, is visiting his friends and relatives in Chapel Hill.

J. N. Hill and family, of Crayneville, was the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ward, of Marion, last week.

Our precinct has sown a good acreage of oats for this season, more than for many years. Also a good supply of grass and clover seed has been sown.

As a general thing, all of our farmers have burnt and sown a good supply of tobacco seed for the present year. Their expected plan is now that there will be an average crop of the weed put out in this precinct.

Those that have their seed sown for this season: Charlie Clement, H. S. Hill, Bigham, Bro. Adams & Co. Stovall & Co, T. M. Hill & Co, Dave Yandell, B. F. Walker, H. O. Hill, Cal Adams, Bill Elkins, Bart Brown & Co and Albert Walker.

I have a good stripper cow for sale. Will give about one gallon of milk a day, with increase by good attention. Price reasonable, apply W. H. Bingham.

Mrs. M. G. Jacobs is still no better.

LEVIAS.

Fred Love has moved into his new house on East Avenue.

The Union church cemetery has been enlarged and the fence repaired. Prof. M. C. Wright has a large and interesting school at Union.

E. B. Franklin is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Pearl LaRue, in Dexter, Mo. His grandchild, Miss Pearl Threlkeld, is with him.

Tilden Childress died at his home Feb. 20 of consumption after several months lingering illness. He was a young man of good habits and deservingly popular with all who knew him. He leaves a devoted wife and one child besides parents and friends to mourn his loss. He was buried at Tyner's Chapel.

Mrs. Eva Threlkeld visited friends in Marion a few days last week.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Henley was buried at Union Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davidson are making their home with their son, Grant, in Marion, for the time being.

Mrs. Susan LaRue is visiting her son, Lucian, near Sheridan, this week.

Mrs. Irene Conyer and children are visiting her parents on Deer Creek.

Mrs. W. W. Watson left last week for Ft. Worth, Tex., where she will spend several weeks with relatives.

Fred Binkley is still confined to his room, improving slowly.

Chas. LaRue has a large and carefully selected stock of spring goods. He wants you to have them, and he wants your hides, eggs and chickens. Also that little note or account that is past due, he needs it now. Come up and settle at once.

Will be in Marion Monday March 11, to buy good mules and horses. Bring in your stock and get the cash, Layne & Leavel.

TOLU

There will not be any services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, the pastor will fill an appointment at Tolu.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hugh Watson and little son, Hugh Ivan, attended the closing of O. L. Vick's school at Ditney, last Friday.

J. Belt, of Lola, spent several days last week with friends in our town.

Mrs. Woolf visited relatives in Salem last week.

Joe Taylor and family left for Missouri, Tuesday, selling his town property to our miller, J. T. Woolf.

Mrs. McAmis is on the sick list. Mrs. M. M. Fowler, of Carrier Mills, Ill., visited her sister, Mrs. J. A. Wheeler, last week.

There will be services at the Presbyterian church at Tolu next Sunday, both morning and night. Services conducted by Rev. B. Andres, of Marion.

C. E. Thomas attended the closing of J. C. Hardin's school at Irma Wednesday. A short program was rendered by the pupils, which all seemed to enjoy. This was Mr. Hardin's first school, and it being in his home district, the words of praise from pupils and patrons speak well for him. He has been unanimously asked to take the school again next year.

REPTON

Farmers in this section were beginning to wear a smile until the snow fell, and then they put their long faces on again.

Those that are on the sick list are improving slowly.

Mrs. W. S. Jones visited her son, W. A. Jones, in Sturgis last week.

Misses Tida and Eva Roberts and Bro. Owen, are visiting relatives in Blackford this week.

The Powell brothers are visiting friends in Morganfield this week.

W. S. Jones was in Marion Tuesday on business.

There will be a musical at Post Oak school house Saturday night. Mr. Chas. Haynes, of Marion, will bring his graphophone out and give us a free musical, every body invited.

W. R. Hodges was in Marion Monday on business.

Miss Anna Peck, of Blackford, visited J. H. Smith and family last week.

Eddie Lewis says "that he is tired of riding old beek on the railroad" and is going to try farming this year.

The singing at Mr. Hodges Sunday evening was well attended and enjoyed by all that were present.

Miss Metz visited her brother in Marion last week.

Geo. King, of Henshaw, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King here, Sunday.
